Bob Sandford is the EPCOR Chair for Water and Climate Security at the United Nations University Institute for Water, Environment and Health. He is the co-author of the UN Water in the World We Want report on post-2015 global sustainable development goals relating to water. Bob is a Fellow of the Centre for Hydrology at the University of Saskatchewan and a Fellow of the Biogeoscience Institute at the University of Calgary.

In addition to many other books, Bob is the author of several high-profile works on water, including Cold Matters: The State & Fate of Canada's Snow and Ice, and Saving Lake Winnipeg. Bob co-authored Flood Forecast: Climate Risk & Resilience in Canada with Kerry Freck.

Diane Kalen-Sukra

Keynote Speaker, Thursday, September 27

Diane's core belief is that as social beings, we flourish in healthy sustainable communities, where good governance, servant leadership and compassionate culture support the well-being of all. Over the past 25 years, this passion has taken her across the country in leadership roles as a CBC television producer, national union representative, entrepreneur, community organizer, and local government management official. Most recently, as the CAO of a small rural BC community. In three short years she left behind a multi-award-winning turn key operation – including two UBCM Community Excellence awards for best practices in organizational development and partnerships as well as the coveted FCM Sustainable Communities Award in Asset Management which establishes a practical and effective approach for small communities to advance asset management in their organization. The innovative sustainable community planning process and document she spearheaded was distinguished as the first of its kind to enshrine human assets - employees, contractors and volunteers - as vital to sustainable service delivery.
